

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, good health is the most priceless possession of every man, woman and child in our state; and

WHEREAS, good health is one of the state's most valuable resources and one vital to the safety, growth, productivity and progress of our state and each individual in it; and

WHEREAS, maintaining or improving public health is a constant, high priority goal of the state; and

WHEREAS, the many members of the community health team, by working together and with continued public support, have made immense strides in protecting and improving public health and assuring that health care services are available to all; and

WHEREAS, medicine's endless quest for new discoveries and methods to make life freer from serious disease and rehabilitation of the ill and injured is reaching toward even greater heights; and

WHEREAS, emphasis on health care services is so predominant today that the "health services industry" is well on its way toward becoming the nation's largest single civilian employment field; and

WHEREAS, one of every 10 high school graduates must be attracted every year for years to come into medicine and its allied fields to meet growing demands in providing medical care services; and

WHEREAS, we must strive to encourage each of our communities to have the vision and the essential, continued coordinated teamwork and planning necessary to meet and cope with tomorrow's health needs so that the highest level of health protection and total health care services will be available to all;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, NILS A. BOE, Governor of the State of South Dakota, do hereby proclaim the week of October 15-21, 1967, as-- throughout the State of South Dakota, and call upon the South Dakota State Medical Association, district medical societies, state and county health departments, allied health professions, public and private health organizations and agencies, civic organizations and public schools to join in this observance for better health and to increase public awareness of the many health facilities and services available at the community level to enrich the lives of all of us and those who will follow us.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the Great Seal of the State of South Dakota, in Pierre, the Capital City, this 14 day of September, in the Year of Our Lord, Nineteen Hundred and Sixty-seven.
